

Everglades Imagery Updates

May 19, 2006

I just wanted to send out a real quick newsletter to announce an upcoming event I have next week. Life has been extremely busy as the semester winds down and I graduate a week from tomorrow. As soon as I send this, I will be heading up to Augusta to pick up my printed and bound book to turn in to the library to finish up my work here at Bowdoin College.

Anyway, I just wanted to announce that I will be speaking at Maine Audubon's monthly Naturalist Forum this upcoming Monday, May 22, 2006 at Gisland Farm in Falmouth, Maine. I will be presenting for about an hour about my work in the Everglades and showing a lot of my images. Everyone is welcome and I encourage anyone interested to stop by. Admission is free. See below for details and directions.

Hope to see you there and look for another newsletter in the next few weeks with lots of announcements.

Everglades Imagery: Intimate Detail of a Vast Landscape
Maine Audubon Naturalists Forum
Gisland Farm, Falmouth, Maine
Monday, May 22, 2006 – 7:00 pm
For Directions see:
<http://www.maineaudubon.org/explore/centers/gilsland.shtml>